Industrial Nanotech Awards Exclusive Distributorship for Mexico to Established Retailer

NAPLES, Fla., Nov 15, 2007 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Industrial Nanotech, Inc. (Pink Sheets:INTK), an emerging global leader in nanotechnology, announced today that it has awarded exclusive distributorship rights for the country of Mexico to Distribuidora Nano de America, based in Monterrey.

Distribuidora Nano de America is a Mexican corporation that sells industrial products throughout Mexico and Central America. They are an established supplier to PEMEX, the government owned oil and gas company, they supply products to numerous other government projects, and they supply other industries in the region through retail supply outlets and construction contractors.

"We are pleased to have our products represented in Mexico by Distribuidora Nano de America," stated Francesca Crolley, VP of Operations & Marketing. "They began introducing Nansulate in Mexico as an Independent Sales Agent in May and have now decided to purchase the Exclusive Distributorship for the region. Their current government contacts and experience in the Mexican and Central American markets place them in a position to rapidly increase the sales of our Nansulate product line to the residential and commercial building markets and the many manufacturing industries present in Mexico and Central America."
